

Department Description

The Human Resources Department is composed of five sections: Labor Relations, Disability Services, the Diversity Commitment, Employee Learning and Development, and the Human Relations Commission.

The Labor Relations section of the Department provides guidance and policy advice to the Mayor and management on labor and employment issues such as the meet and confer process with labor unions, grievance resolution, disciplinary actions and appeals, leave provisions, federal and State labor laws, and rewards and recognition programs. The group serves as the primary point-of-contact for the City's five recognized labor organizations and negotiates on behalf of the City with regard to wages, hours, and terms and conditions of employment. Additionally, Labor Relations delivers training on labor- and employment-related matters.

Disability Services works to ensure that every facility, activity, benefit, program, and service operated or funded by the City is fully accessible to, and usable by, people with disabilities in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), as well as other federal, State, and local access codes and disability rights laws.

The City strives to incorporate valuing diversity, inclusive leadership, and ongoing cultural competence into everyday operations, for employees and customers at all levels. The City has Diversity Commitment to institutionalize the philosophy that because society is comprised of many diverse populations, City government ought to reflect and represent the populations it serves. The mission of Diversity Commitment is to create an environment where differences are valued and all City employees are a productive part of a high-performing team, delivering services to the community.

Employee Learning and Development (ELD) delivers relevant training and development solutions to enhance organizational and employee excellence. Courses offered include New Employee Orientation, Supervisors Academy, Discipline, Rewards and Recognition, and customer service training. ELD also plays a lead role in the OneSD project as Team Lead for the Learning Solutions module which will be used to manage, administer, and track all training activities within City departments.

The Human Relations Commission was established to conduct and promote activities that foster mutual respect and understanding and protect basic human and civil rights. In addition, the Commission helps create an atmosphere that promotes amicable relations among all members of the San Diego community. Three major strategies- community collaborations, community education, and resolution of discrimination complaints- are at the core of the Human Relations Commission's programs and community activities.

Service Efforts and Accomplishments

Labor Relations continues to have formal communications with the employees and management on labor and employment policy directives. In addition, Labor Relations provides advice to City departments and management on all issues related to wages, hours, working conditions and other terms and conditions of employment, including, but not limited to: grievances, long-term disability appeals, industrial leave appeals, trainings, catastrophic leave, and the Family Medical Leave Act.

The Diversity Commitment has recently had successes with training for unclassified staff on inclusive leadership, continued development of the “train the trainer” facilitator program, and several well-attended special events for City staff and the public.

The Human Relations Commission (HRC) was actively involved in addressing many arenas in the area of human relations including healthcare disparities, immigration, hate crimes, and regional human relations issues. Though responsibility for the All People’s Breakfast has been successfully transferred to a community organization, the Commissioners and HRC staff are actively involved in the annual January event.

Employee Learning and Development (ELD) has offered a number of training opportunities to City staff in the last year including New Employee Orientation, Supervisors Academy, Discipline/Rewards and Recognition, Customer Service Skills Building, and Customer-focused Culture training. ELD has also been actively involved in the OneSD project by partnering to design a system to manage, administer, and track all training activities within City departments.

Disability Services has been actively involved in leading a number of efforts including periodic Mayor’s Forums on Disability and an Emergency Preparedness Workshop for People with Disabilities attended by 100 national, State, and local participants and speakers. Staff redesigned the Program’s website, coordinated updates to two administrative regulations regarding people with disabilities, and provided technical assistance to departments on ADA obligations and methods to achieve consistent accommodations and programmatic access.

Therefore training hours prior to Fiscal Year 2008 are not directly comparable to training hours for Fiscal Year 2008 and Fiscal Year 2009.
